Weather: A fine start to the day with any mist and fog in the valleys clearing quickly. Turning cloudier from the west throughout the afternoon with a risk of some patchy rain and drizzle on the highest hills. Feeling much warmer than Tuesday and still quite bright despite the cloud cover, particularly during the morning.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: 70%, decreasing to 40% through the afternoon.

Low cloud and visibility: Any mist or fog may briefly cover slopes as it lifts and clears through the morning. Cloud bases will generally be above the highest tops, but will lower to around 500m during the afternoon, bringing poor visibility. This cloud will be thick enough for some drizzly rain at times, further reducing visibility.

Extra sun protection may be required during cloud breaks in the morning with moderate UV levels. During the afternoon, low cloud and drizzle will make for poor visibility and difficult walking conditions.
